Dear shareholders,

I will be giving my first public presentation about Iris Wellness Labs on June 23, 2017 at the Saratoga Rotary Club. The title of my talk is “Who Lives, Who Dies, Who Decides.”

In my talk, I plan to discuss the followings:

1. Do you know that you can see a graphical representation of your own DNA fingerprint and know whether you have a lot of missing or misplaced DNA sequences? What are the implications of the missing and misplaced DNA in relations to having babies or enjoying good health in old age?
2. What is your level of confidence in being able to live healthy and well past 100-year old, provided that there are no accidents? What is the basis for your level of confidence?
3. Do you know your own risks for cancer, stroke, heart disease, diabetes and what can you do about them?
4. Do you want to know the root causes of obesity, and what you can do to help those who suffer from this condition?
5. Do you care who lives, who dies, and who decides?

We are currently exploring various partnerships to capitalize on what Iris has.

1. Patents on “Artificial Intelligence System for Genetic Analysis” and know-how on comprehensive DNA testing and integrated, in-depth analysis of family medical history, lifestyle, environmental exposures, and microbiome.
2. Unique assets to potentially create a “Rosetta Stone” knowledge base for understanding certain disease and partner with pharmaceutical companies to expedite targeted drug development for a large and growing multi-billion-dollar market.
3. Iris Wellness Labs is the first and only company to offer not only comprehensive DNA testing and integrated, in-depth analysis of the whole person, but also we are confident enough to include a conference with each client and his or her ordering physician.

We believe that everyone deserves a chance to live a healthier, longer life and we are here to help.

We have posted our new article, “Why We Get Sick?” in the blog section of our website, www.iriswellnesslabs.com. Thank you for all your support.

All the best,
