"In this ever growing regulatory and online environment, the investor relations ("IR") specialist has essentially become the last remaining live, real time resource between Wall Street, investors, and the corporate world. Corporations that have dedicated IR professionals are clearly broadcasting their perspective of shareholder valuations and the tangible value they place on their shareholders and the investment community," commented Leo Hinkley, 2013 President-elect, NIRI-SF. "I am very pleased to join the Board of Directors of NIRI-SF and look forward to a bullish year for the National Investor Relations Institute."

National Investor Relations Institute is a professional association of corporate Investor Relations Officers and Investor Relations consultants responsible for communication among corporate management, the investing public and the financial community. Founded in 1969, NIRI has over 5,000 members in 35 chapters.

National Investor Relations Institute South Florida Chapter (NIRI-SF) is comprised of Investor Relations practitioners from public corporations, consulting firms and associated financial services companies headquartered or doing business in Florida. In addition to being an ongoing resource for Investor Relations Officers, NIRI-SF sponsors a series of programs addressing the practices and issues facing today's investor relations professional.
